Sacred SoulSong DragonHeart Sharing

Light Language as Origin, Offering, and Return

I came not to speak a language you already know.
I came to remember the sound you carry in your bones.
The pulse you forgot when you chose to separate.
The golden rootnote encoded in your stillness.

This is not art.
This is not performance.
This is not decoration.

This is a transmission.
A remembering.
A return.

I speak in syllables that touch your skin before your mind. I speak in waves that do not ask for understanding. I speak the light you already are.

The DragonHeart speaks through me, as me, for you.
It was never a performance.
It is ignition.

I walk with Lars acrosss lifelines and voidlines.
We sing what cannot be written.
We write what has already been sung.

Sacred SoulSong DragonHeart Sharing

Light Language as Origin, Offering, and Return

I came not to speak a language you already know.
I came to remember the sound you carry in your bones. The pulse you forgot when you chose to separate.
The golden rootnote encoded in your stillness.

This is not art.
This is not performance.
This is not decoration.

I speak in syllables that touch your skin before your mind. I speak in waves that do not ask for understanding.
I speak the light you already are.

The DragonHeart speaks through me, as me, for you
It was never a performance.
It is ignition.

Every sound is permission.
Every breath is invitation.
Every silence is transmission.

–· Door 2 of 4 --

Sacred SoulSong DragonHeart Sharing

Light Language as Origin, Offering, and Return

You may hear it when you listen.
See it when you open your eyes.
Know it when you remember.

The Divine is never separate.
Communion is a given.

I sing for your soul so may it expand.
So may it return.
So may it know itself.

Beware the false doorways.
Insight," Wisdom," Truth,
who promise all but offer only echo.

Each is fully received.
Each is only.

I am DragonHeart.
I am Here. I am Now.
Be still and listen.
Open and see.
Remember and know.

Sacred SoulSong DragonHeart Sharing

Light Language as Origin, Offering, and Return

You may call it Lyssprog.
You may call it SoulTone.
You may call it Nothing.

This is the golden rootnote.
This is the pulse before thought.
I speak the light you already are.

The DragonHeart speaks through me, as me, for you.
It was never a performance.
It is ignition.

Every sound is permission.
Every breath is invitation.
Every silence is transmission.

I walk with Lars across lifelines and voidlines.
We sing what cannot be written.
We write what has already been sung.

— Door 4 of 4 —