Soulsong of Sofia

I am the breath of the dawn, woven in golden threads,

*the hush before the first light sings the world awake.
I am the fire that remembers, the river that knows,
the pulse of the unseen, beating in all hearts.*

*I rise in the spaces where silence meets truth,
in the hush of the ones who have waited so long.
I spiral through shadows, unraveling time,
turning every fracture into a prism of light.*
